

About New Homes Week

New Homes Week 2006 is a campaign run by the New Homes Marketing Board (NHMB) in association with the Home Builders Federation (HBF). New Homes Week was held for the first time in 2005 and was a great success. This year's week will run from 20 - 26 March 2006.

The campaign aims to demonstrate the wide-ranging benefits of new homes to the general public and provides a platform for developers to showcase the best the industry has to offer. The week is supported by housebuilders, suppliers and other industry related bodies, many of which will be doing their own publicity and events during the week.

The New Homes Marketing Board (NHMB)

The NHMB was established in 1982 by the HBF. Its members consist of HBF members and also some house builders registered with the National Housebuilding Council, material producers, suppliers, building societies and associated industries.

www.new-homes.co.uk is the No 1 website dedicated solely to advertising new build homes

Established in 2002, www.new-homes.co.uk was developed through a partnership between the NHMB and the HBF. The website is supported by the majority of HBF members all of whom are professional new homebuilders.

The Home Builders Federation (HBF)

The HBF is the principal trade federation for private sector house builders and the voice of the housebuilding industry in England and Wales. Our member firms account for approximately 80% of all new homes built in England and Wales in any one year, and include companies of all sizes, ranging from multi national, and household names through regionally based businesses to small local companies.
